THOUSANDS SAW ELECTRICAL PARADE

Elks Purple Day Finishes With Wild Scenes on Midway.

SOME OF THE BIG FEATURES

Streets Were Packed by the Populace Last Night-Banquet to Queen Mabelie and Maids.

It was Purple Day yesterday. Today the druggists have cornered all the bromo. This morning several thousand people were engaged in energetically removing the confetti from their attire, while perhaps a smaller number were engaged in the pastime of getting prescriptions filled for headaches superinduced by the noise, likewise a sojourn in the German beer garden.

It is safe to say that Salt Lake City has never before seen such wholesale doin's as were enacted in the beer garden. The class that is charitably called "the sporting element" were in complete possession and towards midnight all kinds of scenes were enacted which discounted the Moulin Rouge in The girls who served the beer retired from the scene shortly after eleven, utterly worn out with their exrtions. The crowd, however, stayed on and "rushed the growler," took posession of the vaudeville stage and gave ome impromptu turns amid severai incipient riots and general disorderliness. It was not until the lights had been turned out that the place was eventually cleared and then the crowd scattered and made night hideous all over town with their whoops and revelry.

PURPLE PARADE.

The festivities were ushered in by the long heralded purple electrical parade early in the evening. The Elks have been promising so much that apparent-ly pretty nearly the entire population urned out on the streets to see just what these fellows were going to do. Those who saw the parade testify that the Elks kept their promise. There were some people who did not see the pa-rade, but it was not their fault. They pushed and pulled energetically, but the solid phalanx of humanity in front refused to budge an inch. The strapts were backed and a view of East Tentvantage revealed a sea of faces and a swaying mass of humanity from South Temple to Third South streets. All traffic was suspended on the main streets and the thoroughfares were given over to the populace and the

The police and mounted marshals at the head of the pageant literally had to force an opening through the sea of humanity to make way for the pro-cession. Amid the blare of half a dozen bands, the firing of torpedoes and the glare of red fire and Roman candles East Temple street, east on South Temple, southt on State to First South, thence west to West Temple and down to the carnival grounds. It is estimated that there were fully 25,000 people along the line of march and when the parade was over the rush for ten cent tickets was simply terrific. The know-ing ones, however, did not wait until then but had entered the enclosure ahead of the procession. Such was the eagerness shown at this time to secure tickets that the ticket box at the east entrance was stormed by the people and overturned money and all. The police quickly rallied to the scene and kept the crowd back while coin was picked up and then the sales commenced again.

ELECTRICAL EFFECTS. The parade was along the lines of the forecast published in the "News" last night and has now gone down to history as being numbered among the best of the night parades given in this The electrical effects were both novel and striking and the queen's charlot with the illuminated crown above it, the batallion of Salt Lake Elks bearing electric torches and little Keith Clark and his big key studded with purple and white incandescent globes were greeted with vociferous approval all along the fine. The way the electric fluid was supplied was both ing a long bamboo pole with a wire attached: this was run along the trolley wire overhead while another man push ed a metal wheel at the end of a stick along the rail of the street car track thus completing the current. Once in a while one of the men would strike a snag and then the lights would go

On arrival at the carnival grounds the six white horses of the queen's coach were unhooked and then the queen and her maids were escorted to the platform reserved for them in the center of the street. The big elk was then hauled before majesty and in due season was christened "Lord Elkinton," the name sug-gested by Mrs. Helen E. Cox, of 437 north, First West street, who accordincly wins the handsome gold watch.
After the animal had been named Colonel Shay, general superintendent of the midway, stepped forward and asked her majesty to present to Baby Irene, the child contortionist, a gold medal on behalf of the Jabour com-pany. The queen graciously consent-ed and in a few well chosen words performed the ceremony. Baby Irene ex-pressed her thanks and then the ceremonies ended and the confetti battle

QUEEN AND MAIDS BANQUETED. Shortly afterwards Queen Mabelle and her maids entered their carriages and were driven to the Kenyon, where a banquet was served by the Elks in honor of their queen.

The tables were handsomely decorated for the occasion, and during the feast impromptu speeches were made Marix, and Allen. Held's band was also in attendance for a portion of the time. The barquet finally broke up at 1 o'clock this morning.

The guests included Queen Mabelle and her maids, Misses Scholes, Needham, Hatch, Haynes, Cameron, Caldwell, Cosgriff, Taylor, Corse, Eccles, Neff, McCune, Thatcher, Preston and Young; the parade committee, composed of Dr. W. F. Beer, Jacob Green posed of Dr. W. F. Beer, Jacob Green-wald, Leo Kahn and Dr. Patrick Mc-Kenna; and the invited guests, Messrs, Ben Allen: Gaffney, Prait, Gardner, R. L. Colburn, L. P. Marix, W. J. Law-rence, J. S. Critchlow, Henry Kahn, Frank Holman, and Mr. Gruenfeld of Evanston. Mrs. Beer was chaperone.

CARNIVAL NOTES.

The paid attendance at the Carnival up to last night has totaled 55,778.

The total of the Kangaroo court fines paid up to closing time last night was $2,310.90.

Today has been named by the executive committee in honor of Queen Mabelle and her maids.

S. F. Fenton, who is responsible for the electrical effects in the parade last night, has been the recipient of numerous congratulations today.

built for two and containing twins on the midway lest aight. From last reports the twins are still alive. Queen Mabelle and her maids will be the guests of honor this evening at a dinner given by Miss Cosgriff of Wyoming at the Kenyon prior to the theater The voting contest for the most pop ular Elk stood at the close last night as follows: Tarbet, 2,305; Snyder, 2,314;

McIntyre, 1,158; Ellingwood, 525; scat-

Amy Austin, the trapeze exponent lost her purse and contents last night. It is thought that some sneak thief entered her dressing room while she was doing her aerial turn.

The fines imposed by the Kangaroo ourt yesterday only amounted to $280 While the entire Ogden bunch was sweated at the same time the crowd was so dense within the enclosure dur-ing the evening that the patrol wagon was practically useless.

The Orden contingent, forty-one strong, made a very creditable showing as they marched down the street last night led by the redoubtable Exalted Ruler Baker, who is general superintendent of thte Pullman company with headquarters at Ogden.

John Buckle of this city is mourning the foss of his diamond pin, valued at $85. Mr. Buckle did not miss it until he had left the Carnival grounds. The inference is that one of the gang operating in time city "frisked it" John was looking at the sights.

Tomorrow afternoon the carnival enclosure will be thrown open to the school children, while the midway price of admission will be cut in half and the price to the Indian village reduced to ten cents for the youngsters. The evening will be devoted to a confetti battle in aid of the building fund.

Among those to turn down the Kangaroo officers and refuse to be a party to the scheme yesterday were Judge Merritt, the county commissioners and Judge Zane. Dozens of other prom-inent citizens also informed the officers that if they wanted to subscribe to the building fund they knew where to go without being made a party to the

M. Stockman, one of the Kangaroo police, entered the Utah National bank yesterday afternoon armed with a warrant for the arrest of James Chipman. The teller promptly escorted the officer to the bank vault under the pretence that Mr. Chipman was there. He was dead easy and the next minute he was safely locked up in the vault and left there for some time to cool his heels.

There were wild scenes in the German village last night and several fights were the consequence. One of the notable feasures was the sight of girl cheking a husky fellow who wanted to mop the earth with her escort. The escort got away in the meantime and then the girl released her capfive while he straightened his collar and tie, which bore evidence of the earnestness of the girl's grip.

The squads of young girls between fourteen and eighteen years of age who promenaded the carnival enclosure last night and threw confetti with abandan and stuffed it down the collars of some of the sterner sex, was one of the sights which furnished food One ungallant man was observed raking the chopped paper from out of the back of his neck and over-heard to savagely remark: "Those children ought to be spanked and sent

TYPEWRITERS

ELEVEN NEW HAMMOND TYPEWRITers purchased by L. D. S. Business College this week. Free scholarship offered. One of the largest orders of typewriters for this season in the intermountain states has just been placed with the Hammond Typewriter Company through their Utah representative, Mr. James stoutt, Jr. by the Latterday Saints' Business College.
Lieven No. 2 New Manifolding Hammond machines, after careful tests, were ordered in one lot. The beauty and accuracy of the work, the lightness of the touch, and the adaptability of these machines to the touch system of fingering, taucht in the College, were the chief remsons for the adoption of the Hammond.
The College now offers two business has pro-

The College now offers free business scholarships of see each to the two students, one lady and one gentleman, who shall, by June ist, 1902, make the best records as operators on the Hammond and as general stenographers. Now is the time to enter. Come in and compete for the prize.
